This year when the Climax students went back to school, they not only had to get used to not having lockers, but they had to get used to a new teacher and a new mascot.

New lockers with combination locks had been ordered, but had not arrived. The new multi-colored lockers were finally installed in October.

Along with the new lockers, we also got a new math and computer teacher, Miss Julie Stenberg. She grew up in Litchfield and graduated from Concordia College.

The sports pairing of Climax and Fisher brought a new mascot to all teams, the Knight. The pairing situation is a benefit for both schools.

The Climax students are happy with the changes they've had so far this year and are excited about the changes to come.

V-ball Dreams Come True In 1992

The Climax/Fisher volleyball team finished with its best record ever--25 wins and 3 losses. Even though the Knights lost to Win-E-Mac, the loss was not a defeat because it made the girls even more eager to prove themselves in the sectional play. Tournament play showed that attitude to be correct. The team was in the driver's seat all the way through the Sub-Section and Section tournaments, losing only one game to East Grand Forks. The girls swept through the rest of the tournament play going undefeated with wins over Roseau and Cass Lake/Bena. After winning the Section 8A tournament, the girls went on to play in the state tournament at the Met Center in Bloomington on November 20 and the 21. # Knights Play at State V-Ball Tournament

The Knights dreams came true as they advanced to the State Tournament for the first time ever in team history. The excitement rose as they faced Cook in the first round and defeated them in five games. The girls then played the United South Central Rebels, but lost in five games. The Knights then met Stewartville for third place. The Knights seemed emotionally drained, but fought hard until the final point was scored. The Knights came home with the honor of being the fourth best team in the state of Minnesota.

Sophomores Drive Everyone Crazy

Under Mr. Taus' expert driver's education instruction, the sophomores are sure to get their licenses, eventually. An unscientific poll says 50% got their licenses on the first try, for 25% it took two tries at the test, and for 25% it took three tries at the test. Interestingly enough, some people who passed their driver's test could not get their license because their eyes were so bad that they need an eye exam before they could get it. Sophomores responded when asked about their biggest fear in taking their driver's test by saying it was not the same as driving with Mr. Taus.

Attention! You will be seeing a lot more of these in the hands of sophomores, so be on the look out.

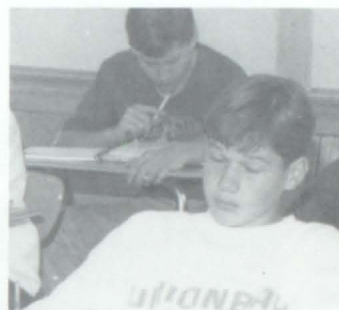

Look at us Mr. Taus. We are driving.

Jeremiah, let's smile for this picture.

9th Grade Climbs Up

They are now at the top of the Junior High ladder, but next year they'll have to start their climb all over again. When asked how they thought this year was different from last year, they said that they liked the bigger variety of classes, instead of only required classes. They also liked the chance of making varsity level in team sports, if they practice hard enough and show how well they can play. The class officers are: President, Jill Aanenson; Vice-President, Melaina Thorson; Secretary, Kate Larson; Treasurer, Karissa Midboe; Student Council, Sarah Gronberg.

Movin' On Up To 8th Grade

When one enters eighth grade, he or she moves one step closer to Prom, Varsity sports, and Graduation. He or she is no longer at the bottom of the high school totem pole. When asked how eighth grade was different from seventh grade, most eighth graders replied, "We don't get dumped on as much." Does this mean the rumors are true about the older students picking on the new junior high students?

Coming to the seventh grade gave many students a new outlook on how they feel about school. Most students were really glad to move from the grade school wing of the building. They were required to accept more responsibility as the school year continued. Changes that have taken place in the transition are: going to dances, switching classes every hour and participating in sports.

Activities Abound For Upper Elementary

The big move from the Shelly school to the Climax school can be quite a transition. Many changes take place after a kid graduates from the third grade. Elementary students in Climax take part in many activities. They display their inventions at the Inventor's Fair in the spring. They are involved in the DARE program that teaches them to be aware of the pitfalls of using drugs and encourages them to live a drug-free life. The students also get their first taste of basketball by practicing on Saturday mornings, participating in games at half-times, and playing in a tournament in February. The fifth and sixth graders participate in a spelling bee and they sell candy bars two times a year, once in the spring and once in the fall, to raise money to go on their big trip to the Minneapolis/St. Paul area at the end of April. The trip lasts three days, with two nights being spent at the Embassy Suites Hotel. Sixth graders will visit the Minnesota Zoo, see a movie at the Omni Theatre, go through the Science Museum, eat at the Heartthrob Cafe, tour the state capitol building and maybe even meet a few legislators. The fourth, fifth, and sixth graders look forward to the challenges of their Climax Elementary years.

Sixth graders seem to be on top of it all. From Top, L to R: Jayne Abentroth, Luke Forness, Angela DeLaGarza, Heather Dybing, Howard Nettum, Wilderness Pinna, Krystal Bjorge.

For the third grade class, this is their last year at Shelly Elementary. Next year they will be moving to the Climax School. It will be quite a change going from a smaller school to one that's bigger. They should adjust very well!

The bright, imaginative bunch of second graders is learning a lot and learning it well. They have already explored sentence writing and are using them in their creative stories. They even know how to form their letters in cursive writing. These second graders have also looked into the world of music and art. They can ably tell you what time it is, too.

Everyone enjoys receiving letters and this year Mrs. Cotton has arranged for her students and the Hillsboro kindergarten students to be pen pals. To get a letter has been very exciting for the students. Along with writing letters, this year the kindergarten class has learned their alphabet, sounds to go with the letters, and how to write their numbers.

Thanks To The Volunteers

Throughout the year, there are a number of people from our community who volunteer their services to our school. Among those are library volunteers, special education volunteers Lil Amundson, Eunice Evenson, Helen Estenson and Elaine Kobbervig, and Lavonne Dale, who accompanies the band and choir students. We also can't forget our School Board. This group of men has had to make big decisions this year. Although they are not classified as volunteers, Mr. Aanenson, Mrs. Moger, and Mr. Sedler devote a great deal of their own time to our school.

What She Said

When She Said It

IN THE BEGINNING . . .

Well girls, this year is going to be a big adjusting year for us, but let's not put the state tournament out of our minds.

THROUGHOUT THE SEASON . . .

I think we are doing fine, we will peak at just the right moment.

AFTER WINNING THE SUB-SECTION TOURNAMENT . . .

At halftime we told the girls to shoot to score. Our third quarter has been weak, but the girls played a good second half.

AFTER WINNING THE SECTION TOURNAMENT . . .

Revenge has been a key factor for us in tournaments, that and our three senior starters. Seniors always go in with extra drive because any game could be their last.

AFTER THE STATE TOURNAMENT . . .

The experience is overwhelming, the emotional high on the way down and the attention you receive at the tournament is great.

My girls are beat up and tired, but they gave it their all. It has to be something they'll carry with them for the rest of their lives.

Climax-Fisher really proved the success of a cooperative and it could hold true for smaller towns that have to consolidate in the future.

When we asked Miss Trudeau what her most memorable moment of this season was, she responded, "Beating Kittson Central in overtime was pretty memorable, but what I cherish most is my relationships with the players. It was great to experience this success with the team that I have worked with for many years."

The taste of a state tournament was in the minds of many of the girls on the Knight basketball team since many of them participated in the state volleyball tournament. Focus seemed to be the problem early on in the season, and while the win/loss record wasn't bad, the girls had hoped to do better. It seemed, though, that the team peaked at just the right time, and finished the season strong. This put them in an excellent position for the tournament games where revenge was the key to success over their arch rivals. The girls avenged all their season losses and one from last year's section championship game in the tournaments. This was a great finish for a group of talented seniors and the standards to strive for have been set for the underclassmen. Special coverage of the section and state tournaments can be found on page 56 of the Knight.

The Crookston Pirates try to shut down Chrissy Nettum as she strives to make a basket.

Boys' Basketball

Knights

Catch the Action

The 1992-93 boys' basketball season found the Climax boys catching the action as they were paired with the boys from Fisher. The record tells the story — 15 wins and 8 losses.

At the Christmas break, the Knights had a 6-2 record. This was highlighted by a 2nd place finish in the KROX Crookston Christmas Tourney. By mid-season, though, the boys had a few injuries and suffered three losses in January, but finished the season strong with an impressive upset of Norman County East, 52-37. The win gave them the Polar Conference title for the second time in three years and a record of 8-0 in the Polar Conference.

Four players made the all-Polar Conference Team: Jarrod Midboe, Brian Doty, Charles Durkin, and Lance Reitmeier (Honorable Mention).

The outlook for next year is a good one. Six of the top eight players are returning, as well as a promising players from our Junior Varsity.

Coach Kent Leiss

WHAT MAKES US TICK...

Student Council

Each class has one representative to student council meetings, but the officers are elected by the whole student body in the spring. Student Council representatives get to sit in on school board meetings now to inform the student body of what exactly is going on with our school system. The council also gets to run activities, like Homecoming, and tournaments for the elementary and junior high. At tournament time, they provide ticket sellers and select referees for the games. Members attend an area student council convention to get ideas for better council projects. Officers for 1992-93 are: Brad Erickson, President; Garlyn Moen, Vice-President; Jeremie Larson, Secretary; and Marcia Nichols, Treasurer.

Because of sports pairing with Fisher High School, the letter jackets ordered this year will be black and white and silver and sport the new Knight logo. Blue and white Climax Viking jackets will soon become a thing of the past.

Yearbook Staff and Editors

What would you do without this yearbook staff? They make this whole book happen! They work hard, endless hours to produce a good yearbook for the rest of the students and community. In the journalism class, they learn to use a 35mm camera, how to develop film and print pictures in a darkroom. They learn the basics of photo composition and page layout design. These are also the students who, in their spare time, write the stories of the Knight Writer school newspaper.

The editors are here to make sure the yearbook happens and to make important decisions about the yearbook itself. They decide on the cover design, what goes on each page and how to bring in enough money to cover the cost of the yearbook.

National Honor Society

These students have achieved a high level of excellence in academics and serve as outstanding role models for their fellow students in school. New members are inducted into the National Honor Society in a special ceremony in the spring. Members are selected on the basis of academic success, involvement in school activities and character. Chapter president is Jarrod Midboe. Active members are Garlyn Moen, Marcia Nichols and Gail Skalet.

Or Two

Future member of the New York Philharmonic.

The band had a very successful year. They tuned us in with two excellent concerts, one in the fall/winter and one in the spring. This year many band students participated in district solos and ensembles. The participants had a good showing and brought home star and double star ratings for their efforts. The band continues to be "on call" for special occasions at the school like the Holiday Banquet and graduation. The Pep Band plays often for winter sporting events. Mr. Myron Danielson continues to oversee the program.

Tune into the sound of chorus students. With 33 participants in junior and senior chorus, the selections are practiced to perfection by the time the groups combine for concerts. Groups also sing for special school occasions like the Holiday Recognition Banquet, Prom and Graduation. Throughout the year, many students prepare for solo and ensemble contests. The result of their efforts is usually a high number of district and state star ratings. The chorus students are again thankful to have the loyal, volunteer help of LaVonne Dale. LaVonne accompanies at individual and group performances. She is an integral part of the total music program.

FLA Leads The Way To The Future

Future Leaders of America was active with fundraisers and projects. A highlight was the lock-in where members played games, watched movies and ate. The FLA organized a successful Snoball week and sponsored two dances. Members, Stacy Speldrich and Tricia Koval, participated at the state level with their action activity events. Substituted for the popular Valentine cookie project was the sale of Norwegian holiday treats to raise money for the March of Dimes.

The activities show that FLA provides the opportunity for its members to "lead the way to the future."

Future Farmers Educate America In Agriculture

The Future Farmers of America organization has had a successful year in spite of having only thirty members. They have participated in both fall and spring contests and have done very well at each. FFA members conducted a fruit, meat and cheese sale before Christmas. This is a traditional project done to raise money for chapter members to go to agricultural contests. This has probably been the most successful year for the FFA in many years. Many students have taken top honors in the competitions. The group holds its annual awards banquet in the spring after the state FFA convention which is traditionally held in April.

Macarena Quintas Uruguayan Student Learns as she Teaches

Macarena Quintas has had many new experiences since arriving in Climax in January. Greeting her, was the winter weather. When she left Montevideo, Uruguay, it was summer and her country doesn't have snow for long periods of time like our area does. Besides bearing the climate here, Macarena has learned many things about American family life, schools, communities and people. She has been able to travel to various places in Minnesota and North Dakota with her host family, the David Abentroths, with whom she has found it easy to fit in. Trips to Fargo and Grand Forks are commonplace, but the trip to Minneapolis for the girls' basketball tournament was a highlight of her stay. Other experiences Macarena has liked are eating chili for the first time ("hot and spicy, but good"), automatic cars, ("you just get in and go"), and shopping at the Megamall ("really great"). One thing she hopes to do before she has to leave is "drive one of those big tractors. The only thing she said she has disliked is trying Big Red Gum ("way too hot!"). Before she returns home, Maqui would like to travel to South Carolina to see a friend. Waiting for her in Uruguay are her father, a construction company owner, her mother, a music teacher and her 17 year-old sister. Maqui has a degree as a kindergarten teacher and has taught for two years. She is not sure she will resume that career in Uruguay.

Maqui, as she likes to be called, is an Amity Scholar. The Amity International program provides students who are willing to work in a school setting to improve their English language skills. Maqui said, "I joined the program because I wanted to speak English better. The only way to speak it better is to have to speak it." Maqui's day includes working with students in the Spanish classes and attending other classes in American and English Literature and U.S. History.

Track Hits the Road

In 1993 Climax paired in track with Norman County West. The program has been a benefit for the students. All in all, this has been a successful season for Climax, but, unfortunately, this is the last year for the tracksters from Climax/Norman County West. Track will be eliminated from Climax's sports program because of budget considerations. The coach of the track team is Julie Stenberg, and she is assisted by Scott Lucier. Rob Neprud assists with the Norman County West members. According to Coach Stenberg, the team had its ups and downs during the year, but was right on track for districts and regions. Nine students placed at the district meet and were eligible to participate in the regional track meet. They were: Marcia Nichols, Stacy Speldrich, Jamie Aanenson, Jason Skavlem and Mike Metzger from Climax; April Todd, Danielle Prussia, Jenny Olson and Ben Hemberger from Norman County West.

Season Highlights

***Marcia Nichols broke two Climax school records in track this year. With a throw of 33'11", she broke Lisa Peterson's record. She also threw the discus a 109' to break the old school record.***

***The 7th grade girls' track team won the Norman County East and Fosston track meets this year.***

***The 9th grade boys' track team won the Fosston track meet.***

Musical

Students Present Happy Valley High

Practice for the play began on March 8. The students and directors worked furiously to prepare and perfect the final product that was presented to the public on April 16 and 17 in the gymnasium.

The practice schedule was interrupted by the state basketball tournament which required many hours of practice to be made up in the mornings and long into the night. The students were satisfied with the performance and thought it went quite well.

Happy Valley High is a musical about a man named Al Barbella who left his career as a sailor to become a teacher. He coaches the football team and with the help of a transfer student leads Happy Valley High to a victory over the school's arch rival, Hillside High. At a victory dance, Coach Barbella meets his long lost love. The musical featured authentic music from the fifties such as "Lollipop", "Dungaree Doll" and "Cindy, Oh, Cindy".

Climax Students Stand Out

On this page are featured students who have achieved excellence in individual endeavors. While many students perform at great levels, the following are the students who have been judged exceptional by their performances in competitions. Below is a picture of the FFA State Degree winners. To receive this award, each person had to be a chapter member for at least four years, and then had to work a specified number of supervised hours on an agricultural project. At the end of the project, the net worth of the project had to reach its projected goal. On the bottom left is the District Spelling Bee winner. Jeremy Voeller beat out nineteen other contestants to compete in the regional spelling bee. On the bottom right, is the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT), high scorer. On the next page, top left is the AAA winner. This award stands for Athletics, Academics, and Arts. Marcia won it on the district and regional level. In the middle, on the left, are three students who are winning writers. Both Ryan and Shana had work published in student publications. Melaina won an essay contest. In the middle, on the right, are the seniors that won the "Voice of Democracy" contest. On the bottom are bridge builders. Marcia Nichols, is the AAA winner for the district and region. To attain this award, Marcia had to balance all aspects of her school life.

Chrissy Nettum jumps high as she shows some of the skill that helped her gain her 1000 points and 1000 rebounds during her time as a basketball player at Climax. This record will be a benefit to her as she continues her basketball career in college where her coaches will expect the same great performances.

Bridge building winners were found building bridges of another sort one day after class. Melaina Thorson, Aaron Rogenes, Marcia Nichols, and Ryan Evenson display their abilities.

The "Voice of Democracy" winners show their patriotism by writing speeches. Gail Skalet was first place winner with a speech entitled, "Our House," Jarrod Midboe was second, and Marcia Nichols was third. For their efforts, each was awarded a savings bond. All participants in the competition received a pen from the Crookston Veterans of Foreign Wars post that sponsors the contest.

1993 Graduates Say, "Goodbye"

The Class of 1993 said goodbye to their high school days at ceremonies held May 30, 1993 at 2:00 pm in the Climax High School gymnasium. Commencement opened with a prelude performed by band students under the direction of Mr. Myron Danielson. The invocation was given by class president, Jason Chandler. Congratulatory remarks were made by Superintendent Walt Aanenson. The program consisted of two musical selections "Prayer" by Knowles and "A Closing Prayer" by Besig and speeches given by Jarrod Midboe ("The Higher We Climb, The Broader the View"), Marcia Nichols ("Today I Was Reminded of You"), Gail Skalet ("Don't Forget Your Roots") and Chrissy Nettum ("Friendships"). Awards and scholarships were announced by Principal Tom Sedler who also presented the Class of 1993. School Board President Richard Evenson conferred the diplomas. The program concluded with the benediction and the recessional. Following the ceremonies, the graduates formed a receiving line near the front of the school to receive the congratulations of those attending graduation.

Danielle Blasey and Rachel Vigness seek help.

"School's not all play and no work." This statement is surprisingly true for most of the students here at Climax. When they think of school they think about doing their best, as well as having a little fun along the way. It seems that this year there has been an exceptional amount of students with honors and achievements, as well as with personal accomplishments. It's no wonder why the students do so well here, who could do poorly when they always have the expertise and expanded knowledge of our teachers at hand. It just goes to show that the students here know how to accomplish great things and have a lot of fun doing it.

Awards Night Held May 10

The annual spring awards night was held on May 10. Preceding the ceremonies was entertainment directed by Myron Danielson. The three numbers that the senior choir sang were "One Song", "It's So Hard to Say Goodbye to Yesterday", and "Ride with the Tide". The junior/senior high combined bands played three numbers also, "United Nations 'March'", "Tropical Trumpets", and "Drummin' in the Saints". The State and District star music contest winners also performed during the concert. The ceremonies were hosted by Mr. Tom Sedler. After the concert, the new Honor Society members were introduced and inducted. Physical fitness awards were conferred on students in fourth grade through tenth grades. Many music awards were announced for band and choir members for their fine performances in music contests. Scholastic awards were also given to the top student in each class in grades nine through twelve. The last introduction of the night was the senior scholars. For a complete listing of all awards, including the special graduation awards, see page 54.

Shelly School of District 592

... The End

As the 1992-93 school year ends we not only say good-bye to the senior class, but to many members of the faculty.

Our school not only went through the new and fun changes, of getting new lockers, getting a new mascot, and pairing with Fisher in sports, but it also had to make the difficult decision, because of budget considerations, to let go some talented teachers that were well liked by everyone.

The plan to combine elementary classes and shut down the elementary school in Shelly, will make the remaining teachers' jobs even more challenging.

Even though the Climax students and administration are not happy with all the new changes, attention must be paid to the years to come.

So goodbye to the seniors, and to the members of faculty. You will be missed and always remembered.

Girls' Basketball

Knights Rebound To State Tourney

For the second time during the school year, a Knights girls' sports team travelled to a state competition. It was the girls' basketball team that found itself in that happy position at the end of Sectional tournament play. With school cancelled for one of the tournament days, students, parents and pep band members were able to make the trip to see the team compete. For many of the girls, the tournament schedule seemed "old hat" since they were part of the volleyball team that also made a state tournament appearance. The girls played to make their fans proud and were rewarded with a fourth place finish.

Paula Evenson's intensity wins games.

Tiffany Malmlov eyes a target.
